A very simple but extremely useful image editing application, Image Compare Cracked Version allows users to compare and edit two images side by side. Why look for a graphical image editing software if your editor can edit RAW images and even swap them with others? Image Compare was designed to meet the needs of professional photographers and graphic designers. You can experiment with the various options on the fly and compare the images just as they were shot, even with specific adjustments for brightness, contrast, and so on. Images can be compared and matched against one another easily, and you can easily switch between them. The application features a timeline view, with which you can see the individual changes introduced into each photo. The interface is not the greatest, and the application provides a couple of presets, like DNR, NR, and one that adjusts the image in all modes. This preset is the default setting, and it's always used when a new image is opened. Image Compare is made available with a free trial period, and it's a good thing that it comes with a three-day trial of the full version, because you'll surely need a few days to really use the application, especially if you're used to editing RAW images. Free Disk Fence is a very powerful disk copy utility that helps you protect your valuable information from disasters such as hard disk failure and theft. The application relies on a cloud service to function properly, and it runs through a WebDAV server that allows you to remotely control your disk with the program. To do this, you have to first install the application (this is free), then link your PC with the server and open the portal on your computer. The service will provide you with an access key and a password for your disks, which you can use to control them remotely. Thus, you can always make sure that your important files are still safely on your hard disk. It is also possible to automate this process and have your disk automatically back up using a scheduled task. But doing so requires the user to input extra information, such as the backup location and the backup frequency. Also, if you choose to configure it automatically, you will be prompted to enter the access key and password for your disk at every scheduled backup. The program is built on a good base and it is very easy to use. You can either manage your disks individually, or you can create a group to protect them all. Once created, the group
